

The Culverhouse College of Business at The University of Alabama invites applications for a tenure-track faculty position at the Assistant Professor level in Operations Management (OM) starting no later than August 16, 2019, in the Department of Information Systems, Statistics, and Management Science. Candidates must have completed a doctorate in OM or a closely related field (e.g., Operations Research, Management Science, Decision Sciences, or Industrial Engineering) by the start of the appointment. Applications from experienced Assistant Professors are welcome.

Ideal candidates should demonstrate a proven ability to produce high-impact research and excel in undergraduate and graduate (M.S., MBA, and Ph.D.) teaching. Candidates should have rigorous training in stochastic processes, simulation, and/or optimization. Research interests and experience in data-driven decision-making and analytics applied to healthcare, sustainability, and/or supply chain management are desirable. Candidates with other research interests are also encouraged to apply.

Salary is competitive and commensurate with experience and achievements. Prior to hiring, the candidate must successfully pass a pre-employment background investigation. Applicants must apply online at <https://facultyjobs.ua.edu/postings/43887> and include a one-page cover letter, curriculum vitae, research statement, teaching statement (include teaching evaluations, if available), one or two representative examples of research papers, and a list of at least three references with contact information.

The review of applications will begin immediately. Applications will be accepted until November 15, 2018. Preference for a meeting at the 2018 INFORMS Annual Conference will be given to individuals whose applications are received by October 15, 2018. All inquiries should be directed to the search committee chair, Dr. Burcu B. Keskin, at bkeskin@cba.ua.edu.
