

Ad for AIO Associate or full Professor/Director position 2018-19

Overview/Duties:

The Analytics, Information Systems, and Operations Management (AIO) in the University Of Kansas School of Business seeks applicants for Associate or full Professor/Area Director. This is a full-time, 9-month, academic year, tenured appointment, to begin August 18, 2019. The position includes some summer administrative responsibilities that will provide summer salary.

Director responsibilities include leading, administering, and coordinating activities within the area and representing the area to the school and university. The director has decision making authority over the area budget, participates in faculty evaluations and salary decisions, is responsible for coordinating curricula and faculty development within the area, and communicates area accomplishments, needs, and opportunities. Associate or full Professor responsibilities include teaching two courses each year, mentoring junior faculty and students and maintaining a limited research agenda. This position will report to the Dean and Executive Associate Dean.

Candidates with prior experience in an administrative or managerial position, in academia or industry, are encouraged to apply. Women and minorities, and candidates who will contribute to the climate of diversity in the School of Business, including a diversity of scholarly approaches, are especially encouraged to apply.

Job Requirements:

1. Ph.D. or equivalent in a discipline relevant to the AIO area (e.g., Business Analytics, Supply Chain Management, Information Systems, Decision Sciences, Operations Management).
2. A record of achievement in teaching and research to warrant a tenured appointment at the rank of Associate or full Professor.
3. A record of achievement in research to warrant a tenured appointment at the rank of Associate or full Professor

Candidates can apply online at <https://employment.ku.edu/academic/12992BR>. A completed application will include the following: A letter of application describing experience and accomplishments, a CV, and the names and contact information for at least three professional references.
