

ESMT Berlin invites applications for a

Position in Management Science

ESMT Berlin invites applications for a tenure-track faculty position at the Assistant or untenured Associate Professor level for a candidate with a strong profile in business analytics, broadly defined. Junior and mid-career candidates in the areas of Management Science, Operations Management, Operations Research, Statistics, Quantitative Methods, and Data Science will be considered. The position offers teaching opportunities at the Master, MBA, PhD, and executive education levels.

Successful candidates should hold a PhD in Operations Management, Operations Research, Statistics, Industrial Engineering or a related field, and should display the potential for research excellence as evidenced by publications in top general and field journals, as well as the potential for teaching excellence. Candidates with expertise and record in data-driven research are particularly encouraged to apply.

Please send application materials including a cover letter describing present and future research and teaching plans, copies of selected recent publications, an up-to-date detailed résumé, and the names and contacts of three academic references to:

Professor Catalina Stefanescu-Cuntze, PhD | Dean of Faculty
ESMT Berlin | Schlossplatz 1 | 10178 Berlin | Germany or preferably via e-mail to: faculty.recruitment@esmt.org
