

KAIST College of Business

Faculty Position in Operations Strategy and Management Science (OSMS)

KAIST College of Business (<http://www.business.kaist.ac.kr/>) in Seoul, Korea is seeking candidates to fill a tenure-track junior or senior faculty position (assistant/associate professor) in the operations strategy and management science group. We seek scholars who can produce research with high quality and impact in the broadly defined areas of operations strategy, supply chain management, forecasting and statistics. A successful candidate can start immediately, subject to rescheduling upon request.

A Ph.D. or equivalent in operations management, supply chain management, or any of the related fields such as operations research, industrial engineering, production economics, computer science, and marketing science is required. Candidates should have a distinguished potential of research and teaching in the area of operations management, supply chain management, and/or management science for MBA, MS and Ph.D. programs. Especially, the candidate should demonstrate his/her interest in teaching MBA and MS/PhD level courses on business statistics and big data analytics, etc.

Accredited by AACSB, EQUIS, and GMAC, KAIST College of Business is one of the leading research schools in Asia and currently offers MBA, MS and PhD degrees and various executive programs in business. The school is culturally diverse with over 50 tenure-track faculty in addition to over 30 adjunct professors.

Review of applications will begin immediately and continue until the position is filled. Applicants are strongly encouraged to submit their materials early, by October 7, if they plan to attend the October INFORMS Conference in Houston. Applications including full CV, teaching and research statements, (a list of) selected publications or working papers, and names of three references should be sent in electronic form to kunsoo@kaist.ac.kr
