

Information Systems and Operations Management (ISOM), Open Rank

The Information Systems & Operations Management (ISOM) area of the Goizueta Business School at Emory University located in Atlanta, GA invites applications for a tenured/tenure track position that is open rank, with a priority for hiring at the level of an Assistant Professor. We seek an individual with expertise in Information Systems, Operations Management and Data Analytics, with a preference for AI ethics (e.g., AI's impact on equity, AI's environmental and societal impact, fairness of AI models and algorithmic decision-making).

Zoom interviews will begin in December 2023. We expect to invite candidates to campus during early Spring 2024, and the search will continue until the position is filled.

The Goizueta Business School offers generous research support and three-course annual teaching loads. Salary will be competitive. An overview of the ISOM area can be viewed at <https://goizueta.emory.edu/faculty/isom>.

Emory University is located in Atlanta, Georgia, which is considered to be among the best American cities to live and work and is a major hub for domestic and international travel. Home to the third largest concentration of Fortune 500 companies in the nation, Atlanta provides a multitude of opportunities to work closely with private-sector companies as well as leading healthcare institutions such as the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention and the American Cancer Society.

Qualifications

Interested candidates should have a Ph.D. in related fields as of August 1, 2024. A strong record of (or considerable promise for) excellence in research and teaching is required. The primary responsibilities for this position include research, teaching, and engaging in service activities for the academic discipline, business school, and university. Our ideal candidate will contribute to the diversity and excellence of our current faculty through their research, teaching, and service.
