

INDIANA STATE UNIVERSITY

Indiana State University invites applications for two tenure track positions in Supply Chain Management at the Assistant Professor rank in the Marketing & Operations department of the Scott College of Business, beginning January or August 2025.

Expectations include a productive research agenda resulting in quality journal publications, teaching excellence at the graduate and undergraduate levels, and service to the university, business, and/or professional communities. Community engagement and innovative experiential learning are strategic priorities at ISU and are expected by members of the faculty. Teaching evening classes or using distance-learning technology may also be expected.

Qualifications: Candidates for the positions should have an earned Ph.D. or D.B.A. with a concentration in supply chain management, operations management, logistics management or a closely related field from an AACSB-accredited business program. ABD with completion planned prior to start date may also be considered. The position will primarily support the Supply Chain Management major. Courses taught may include global supply chain management, global procurement, logistics management, and operations management. Teaching might occasionally be required in business analytics based on the needs of the department.

Candidates should demonstrate ability to conduct a program of research leading to publication in quality journals, commitment to excellence in teaching, high personal and academic standards, capacity for collegiality and working in a team, strong written and oral communication skills, and receptivity to innovation and change.

Employment is contingent upon proof of eligibility to work in the United States. Salary is competitive with similar institutions and commensurate with experience and qualifications.

The Supply Chain Management faculty serves approximately 1000 business students in the college. Faculty teach in the undergraduate business core, the supply chain management major/minor, and both the on-campus and online MBA program.

All programs in the Scott College of Business are accredited by AACSB-International.

Indiana State University serves approximately 8,000 undergraduate and graduate students and is located in Terre Haute, IN. Further information about Indiana State University, the Scott College of Business, and the Supply Chain Management program can be found at <http://www.indianastate.edu/business>.

In order to receive full consideration, please apply by September 1, 2024. The positions will remain open until on-campus interviews have been scheduled. To apply, please go to <https://jobs.indstate.edu/postings/47963..>

Direct inquiries only (no applications please) to: Dr. Paul Schikora, Department Chairperson, Marketing and Operations Department, Scott College of Business, Indiana State University, Terre Haute, IN 47809, email: Paul.Schikora@indstate.edu.

Indiana State University is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action employer. All are encouraged to apply including women, minorities, individuals with disabilities and protected veterans.