

Assistant Professor – Continuing Track (Non-tenure Track)
Operations Management / Business Analytics / Management Science

Department of Business Administration
Alfred Lerner College of Business and Economics
University of Delaware

The Alfred Lerner College of Business and Economics at the University of Delaware invites applications for a continuing-track (non-tenure track) position in Operations Management. This position is in our expanding Operations Management area, whose growth is fueled by increased interest in data-based analytics and decision making. In 2019, Forbes named University of Delaware one of America's best midsize employers, and in 2021 it ranked University of Delaware the best employer in Delaware.

Candidates must possess a PhD in operations management or a related field or be ABD with completion expected in the near future. In addition, candidates should be well-qualified to design and teach Operations Management and Business Analytics courses.

Successful candidates will exhibit the ambition and vision to develop a cutting-edge, innovative instructional program while maintaining a commitment to scholarly research. This is a permanent position, with contract renewals that increase in length over time—starting with two years and extending to five-year terms. While there is no mandatory promotion requirement, opportunities for rank advancement are available. The teaching load consists of six courses per academic year.

Founded in 1743, the University of Delaware (www.udel.edu) combines tradition and innovation. Located on an attractive campus in Newark, Delaware, roughly an hour from Philadelphia and Baltimore, and just over two hours from New York and Washington, D.C., the University is a state-assisted institution with a strong private endowment and selective admission. It is one of the oldest land-grant institutions in the nation and an R1 research university with very high research activity. The Department of Business Administration is within the Alfred Lerner College of Business & Economics and is composed of four areas: Marketing, Management, International Business, and Operations Management. For more information, see lerner.udel.edu.

The starting date for this position is August 16, 2025. Those interested should apply online at <https://careers.udel.edu/cw/en-us/job/501316/assistant-professor-continuing-track-operations-management>. Please upload a cover letter, your curriculum vitae, three contact references, and up to two articles (published or manuscripts) to this website.

Applications will be reviewed on a rolling basis commencing October 1, 2024 and continuing until the position is filled.

Equal Employment Opportunity

The University of Delaware is an Equal Opportunity Employer that encourages applications from minority group members and women. The University's Notice of Non-Discrimination is available at <http://www.udel.edu/aboutus/legalnotices.html>.

Employment offers will be conditioned upon successful completion of a criminal background check. A conviction will not necessarily exclude a candidate from employment. Candidates must be legally authorized to work in the United States.