

The School of Management at Zhejiang University (ZJU) in China, invites applications for a Postdoctoral Fellow position. This postdoc fellow position can be 2 years or 3 years. Applicants with recently completed PhDs with specialization in a broad portfolio of topics in operations and supply chain management (O&SCM) will be considered for the position. Zhejiang University ranks 47 in the QS global ranking and ranks 51 in the U.S. News global ranking.

Job Responsibilities: The Postdoctoral Fellow will be expected to perform research at the cutting edge of O&SCM field along agreed sponsored projects by Nanjing Normal University Liuhe Future Onehealth Food Industry Institute, under the supervision with Professor Honggeng Zhou at School of Management, ZJU. The candidate needs to publish a minimum of two high quality papers during the postdoc fellow term. For more information about the postdoc position, please see <http://www.som.zju.edu.cn/2019/0905/c63617a2438604/page.htm>.

Minimum Qualifications: An earned doctorate is required by the start of the appointment. Successful candidates should have a track record or the potential for research accomplishments.

Salary: The annual salary for this postdoc position will be 260,000 RMB (approximately 35,520 USD).

How to Apply: Applicants should submit the following materials to Professor Honggeng Zhou at honggengz@zju.edu.cn: (1) letter of application; (2) curriculum vitae; (3) research proposal (up to two-three pages, not including references and citations); (4) personal statement (up to one page, describing your personal background and your prior contributions and future plans); (5) doctoral dissertation abstract (up to two page); (6) writing sample (sample publication or paper, max. 35 pages including references and citations). Review of applications will begin immediately, but the search will continue until the position is filled.